Why Was It

that Ayer's Sarsaparilla, out of the great number of similar preparations manufactured throughout the world, was the only medicine of the kind admitted at the World's Fair, Chicago? And why was it that, in spite of the united efforts of the manufacturers of other preparations, the decision of the World's Fair Directors was not reversed?

BECAUSE

According to RULE 15—"Articles that are in any way dangerous or offensive, also patent medicines, nostrums, and empirical preparations, whose ingredients are concealed, will not be admitted to the Exposition," and, therefore—

Because Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine, not a nostrum, and not a secret preparation.

Because its proprietors had nothing to conceal when questioned as to the formula from which it is compounded.

Because it is all that it is claimed to be—a Compound Concentrated Extract of Sarsaparilla, and in every sense, worthy the indorsement of this most important committee, called together for passing upon the manufactured products of the entire world.

A Medical Firm Gives Away Cash.

J. F. Smith & Co. of No. 255 Greenwich St., New York, the manufacturers of that favorite cathartic known as Smith's Bile Beans, have adopted a novel plan. They ask the individual buyers of Bile Beans to send their full name and address, with an outside wrapper from a bottle of Bile Beans (either size) to their office, and they give $5 for the first wrapper received in each morning's mail, and $1 for the 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th. WHEN THE APPLE TREES BLOOM.

Across the blue sea of the sky
The stately cloud swans float,
And hark! from yonder elm there comes
The oriole's thrilling note.
Each wandering breeze that kisses us
Is heavy with perfume,
And all the world seems fresh from God
When the apple trees bloom.

The little hills, like emeralds
On earth's fair bosom set,
Reflect the azure of the sky
Where peeps the violet.
The chestnut lifts its snowy spires
Like tapers in the gloom,
And life is sweet and heaven is near
When the apple trees bloom.

With buttercups the meadows shine,
And bluets in the grass,
Like happy eyes of children, smile
Upon us as we pass.
So fair a world that in our hearts
There surely is no room
For aught but pure and loving thoughts
When the apple trees bloom.
—Good Housekeeping.

Deep Sea Temperatures.

It has been found that the law which is constant for the earth must be inverted for the sea. The farther we descend into the interior of the earth the higher is the temperature, but the deeper we dip into the sea the lower is the temperature of the water. Recent observations tend to show that an almost glacial coldness prevails over the whole deep sea bed in both hemispheres, extending even to the tropics. This phenomenon is explained by reference to the currents of the ocean; one of the chief causes of which is difference of temperature at the surface. Sea water does not freeze until it is cooled down to about 23 degrees, and unlike fresh water it continues to grow heavier down to that point.

The effect of the intense cold of the polar regions is thus to cause a constant sinking down of the surface and to establish a current of ice cold water along the bottom toward the equator, while to supply the place of what sinks down an indraft or northward flow takes place on the surface, which brings the warm water of the temperate and tropical regions toward the poles. This is the general theory of the vertical circulation of the ocean and explains the cause of the low temperature which prevails at the bottom of the ocean.—Brooklyn Eagle.

What Is Electricity?

It is not at all strange that the almost universal use of electricity should raise the question of what this subtle power is. We see its effects on every side, but the wisest of men have a very imperfect understanding of what the mysterious force is which moves the loaded car, changes darkness into light, enables friend to talk with friend without reference to distance and accomplishes a thousand marvelous things with the ease of a magician. Speculation has been active as to the probable origin of electrical force; but, like gravitation, light, heat and chemical action, philosophers and physicists know almost nothing in regard to it.—Baltimore Herald.

Lee Under Fire.

It is related that at one period of the battle of Chancellorsville General Lee was attended only by Dr. Dorsey Cullen, medical director of Longstreet's corps, who was soon aware of an uncomfortable nearness of the enemy's bullets, and becoming anxious about his illustrious companion he remarked:

"General, don't you think the firing about here is rather warm?"

General Lee turned and said to him:

"Doctor, if you think the firing is getting too hot, you have my permission to retire."—Maryland Journal.

Poising the Head.

To gain the correct poise of the head it is a good plan to walk about a room with a book balanced on the top. Keep the back of the neck well up, and if the book stays on you will do, but take care it is not supported by your hair. It must remain steady on its own account, or else you have not acquired the right way of carrying your head.—America.

The Height of Malevolence.

Scene, a railway carriage; dramatis personæ, a married couple on their honeymoon and other passengers. She—I say, how spiteful that gentleman opposite is, to be sure!

He—Why, darling?

She—Every time we enter a tunnel he lights his cigar.—Markischer Sprecher.

"Ah, my dear fellow," said an old man once to a friend, "I am quite weak and broken down with age. I used to walk entirely around the park every day, but now I can only walk half way round and back again."

Christian Henry Heineck, who was born at Lubeck in 1721, was called the "infant prodigy." He only lived to be 4 years old, but at the time of his untimely death was "highly educated."

A long suffering shopkeeper aptly applies to that class of shoppers who insist upon examining every article and never purchasing anything the term "counter irritants."

Dr. Caldwell says there are but three known "tobacco takers"—the African goat, the hideous tobacco worm and the rational creature—man!

When is a man like a telescope? When somebody draws him out, sees through him and finally shuts him up.

TO WASH OR NOT TO WASH?

England and France Considered From the Standpoint of Cleanliness.

The question of cleanliness is another on which the ideas of the French and English are at variance. In France the cleanliness of the thing seen is the primary consideration; in England things both seen and unseen are required to be clean. Cleanliness in the preparation of food, in the outer clothing of the body, in the elimination of dust, is always remarkable in France, and dirt is never allowed to offend the eye. Unfortunately the genius of the nation for cleanliness ends here, and the necessity of water as a purifier in towns like Paris, where the supply is inadequate, is insufficiently recognized. It is not understood among the lower and middle classes that if it is beautiful to live in an apparent state of cleanliness it is equally so to exist in a real one, and that as long as sanitation and hygiene are put into a corner as troublesome sciences, which are costly, to no visible advantage, perfect living cannot be attained.

The whole continent suffers from insufficiency of ablution, and although in fashionable households the morning bath has succeeded in establishing itself a large proportion of the population is content to live in a state of inner griminess. It is hardly necessary to allude to the persistent violation of health principles by architects. They are not blamed for their dangerous diregard for the essential conditions of healthy living, and they are therefore indifferent upon the subject, the more so as the nation at large has impaired the sensitiveness of its olfactory nerve by familiarity with irritants.

The Englishman, on the other hand, has an exaggerated, almost eccentric, craving for abundance of water, which he satisfies at all costs and under most difficult conditions. He has developed this craving to an astonishing degree, and when he is absent from his hygienic country he nurses an almost superstitious dread of evil sanitation. Not a breath of unsavoriness escapes his finely tempered sense, and his life abroad is constantly rendered unhappy by offenses against it. He has a cult for clean and rosy skins, and his idea of moral purity cannot be disassociated from physical purity.

For priests abroad, whose poverty has made them careless as to cleanliness, Englishmen have a great aversion and often refuse to believe in the piety of an ecclesiastic imperfectly cleansed. Is it the constant suggestion offered by the waves which encircle his island or the rainiess of his climate that has made the Englishman so love water? Whatever it may be, he has certainly set the example to the rest of the world of a delightful system of living by reducing to a minimum the unpleasant materialism of the body and making it appear more ethereally human.—Fortnightly Review.

Lovers' Flowers.

There are plenty of flowers named in the interest of lovers, for these have from the earliest times been incorrigible in appropriating blossoms to their own purpose, but some of these names are the result of blunders. It is hardly likely that any swain would choose the coarse annual called love-lies-bleeding to express his pain. There has been some confusion here between the classical amaranthus and amor. So also the Solanum lycopersicum, named Pomi dei mori by the Italians, was glossed Pommes d'amour by the French, which our people called love apples, till they borrowed the American name "tomato." The straggling goose grass, too, of which the myriad little burs cling to men's coats, derives its popular name, loveman, from that habit and not from amorous association.—Saturday Review.

Legal Wit.

When in a trial about limestone quarries a barrister called Caldecott had said over and over again with dull verbosity that they "were not ratable, because the limestone could only be reached by boring, which was a matter of science," Ellenborough gravely inquired, "Would you, Mr. Caldecott, have us believe that every kind of boring is matter of science?" With finer humor he nipped in the bud one of Randle Jackson's flowery harangues. "My lords," said the orator, with nervous intonation, "in the book of nature it is written"— "Be kind enough, Mr. Jackson," interposed Lord Ellenborough, "to mention the page from which you are about to quote."—Argosy.

A Water Volcano.

One of the greatest natural curiosities in Central America is the Volcan de Aqua or water volcano, which is situated in Gautemala, about 25 miles southwest of the capital: Its apex is 14,450 feet above the level of the sea, and cultivated fields and forest trees extend almost to its summit. It occasionally vents forth torrents of pure, cold water. In 1869 an "eruption" of this kind inundated the northern valley and destroyed a whole village situated on the side of the peak. —St. Louis Republic.

SHOOTING DEER FROM TREES.

The Curious Sport Indulged In by the Apple Growers of Arkansas.

In the apple growing regions of Arkansas the natives have a way of deer shooting entirely original with themselves. Deer love apples, and in the vast orchards they go to feed. Not only do the deer eat the apples, but when the fruit is all gathered they turn their attention to the bark on the young trees and the branches of the older ones.

In the fall, when apples are plentiful, the native watches for deer signs, and when he locates the trees which the deer frequent he goes to work gathering the fruit, always leaving two or three trees unpicked that bear the favorite apple of the deer. After the fruit gathering is over he turns his attention to harvesting venison. The deer come to the orchard to feed in the night, and when daylight comes hie away to some secluded hollow and sleep. When the moon is in the first quarter, the native takes his gun and goes out in the early evening to lie in wait for the deer.

Generally two or three hunters scatter out about the apple trees that are left full fruited to lure the deer to destruction. They climb into the branches of the trees a short distance from the ones that bear the fruit and remain silent and motionless to await the coming of the game. Shotguns are the weapons and buckshot the ammunition used. Usually the hunters do not have long to wait before they can hear the deer approaching. The game comes cautiously, and it is sometimes an hour after the game has been sighted or heard before he presents himself at the apple tree where he feeds.

From a station in a tree I watched one night for an hour and a half, and during all that time deer were in sight, but not close enough to shoot. At last a splendid buck came up on the opposite side of the trees and began reaching up and picking the apples. Presently a doe put in an appearance. I sat there admiring the pair, waiting for them to move around a little to give me a better shot, when "Bang, bang!" in rapid succession my companion's gun sounded about a hundred yards from where I was stationed, startling the beauties that I had considered as good as dead, and as they started off I tried to get my gun in position to shoot as they ran, my foot slipped, and down I went in a heap on the ground.

My companion, however, who had fired the shots was more successful. When I reached him, he had a buck and doe lying beside the apple tree and was just in the act of cutting their throats. He said there was no use remaining, as the deer would not come back again until near morning, and maybe not that night. I killed a doe the next night, and the native duplicated the performance of the previous evening. His record for the season was 27 deer, all killed in the same orchard, which covered an area of about 100 acres.—St. Louis Republic.

A Sign of Active Intellect.

"Talking to oneself is generally considered a sign of a weak brain," said a doctor, "but nothing could be a greater mistake. It is a sign of an extremely active brain. It may be a strong or a weak intellect, but the activity must be there to cause this peculiarity. If you will observe, you will be astonished how many people you will meet on the street who are thinking aloud. The talking is done unconsciously. Often the people addicted to the habit, if you called their attention to it, would aver that they never were guilty of such a thing. Some of the brightest men I have ever known do their thinking aloud without knowing it, and, on the other hand, some of the weakest individuals mentally whom I have met in my practice keep up a continuous conversation with themselves. So it would seem that a man who talks to himself must be one of two extremes—either a wise man or a fool."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Don't Be a Bounder.

A "bounder" is not a swell. The one is the antithesis of the other. Certain well meaning but misled young men in this city are giving themselves knowing airs and describing fellows of their own kind as "bounders." Thereby they show their own boundership, so to speak. The "bounder's" habitat is England, where class distinctions are rigidly enforced. There the term bounder is applied to a vulgar person who apes all the outward and visible signs of good breeding, but is really a cad at heart. He is one who by his ambition bounds up among gentlemen, but who soon falls back where he belongs.—New York Herald.

The Ashantee Army.

The Ashantee army is the male part of the Ashantee nation. Every man who can keep up on the march is obliged to serve, and after an expedition has set out the women scour the streets and almost beat to death any man whom they may discover skulking around.—Chicago Tribune.

THE STRIKE.

Mr. Debbs, who has set himself up as the Czar over the American people, declares that the strike is not yet off, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. But for all that, many of the striking railway employes are returning to their work, and trains, both passenger and freight, are running, if not on schedule time at least with sufficient promptness to relieve the immediate necessities of the farmer, merchant and the public in general, who are the real sufferers in the attempted boycott against the Pullman cars. If Mr. Pullman must be punished some other means should be used than that mapped out by Mr. Debbs. This thing of making the whole country suffer for the shortcomings of one man is about played out.

Speak For Your Town.

If you live in a town you should believe in it. If you don't believe your own town or city is a little better in most respects than any of its neighbors you should move out. Like other places it has advantages that others have not, and your modesty should not prevent you from making that fact known whenever the opportunity presents itself. At home or abroad, whether pursuing pleasure or engaged in business do not neglect to give those with whom you come in contact to understand that you live in a live town, populated by enterprising, go-ahead, progressive people and one that is advancing instead of retrograding. If you can truthfully speak in commendation of the ability of your professional men, the square dealing methods of your merchants, the excellence of your mechanics, the superiority of your churches, schools and public institutions and the industry, energy and sobriety of your citizens generally, let nothing prevent you from exercising that privilege. You should learn to believe, if you do not already, that we have all these and in addition the handsomest women, the best located town, the finest country surrounding it, with the most intelligent class of farmers to be found in the United States. If there are any drawbacks it will not be necessary to mention them. The people and newspapers of competing towns will relieve you of that task by attending to that part of it themselves. Strangers seeking a location are greatly influenced in favor of a place whose citizens are enthusiastic in its praise. No city or town can expect to attain prominence over its rivals unless its inhabitants appreciate the excellence and virtues of each other and will collectively spread abroad their faith in the present prosperity and future greatness of their own locality. Talk is a cheap commodity, but when rightly utilized it can be made effective in many directions, and this is one of them.—Ex.

Let it be understood that the humpedback style of riding bicycles is now wholly optional. It is a matter of handles. The backhumping handle represents the machine as it is formed for racing. A racing man, like a camel or a jack-rabbit, has to hump himself for speed. But handles can be put on any machine which will enable the rider to sit up like a happy, healthy and independent American gentleman out for pleasure and not for business. There is no excuse for the hunchback off the race track. —N. Y. Sun.

Last fall I was taken with a kind of summer complaint, accompanied with a wonderful diarrhœa. Soon after my wife's sister, who lives with us, was taken in the same way. We used almost everything without benefit. Then I said, let us try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which we did, and that cured us right away. I think much of it, as it did for me what it was recommended to do. John Hertzler, Bethel Berks Co., Pa. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

Alonzo de Clairmont, the enterprising traveler of the Fidelity Mutual Aid Association, is still hustling around Sonoma and vicinity. He has visited the Jones ranch and other places this week and has written up quite a number of policies for that excellent association.

Under the head of political announcements will be found the card of Mr. J. W. Keegan, the nominee of the Peoples' Party for Assemblyman from this the 17th District. Mr. Keegan is a prosperous merchant and a representative citizen of Santa Rosa and is in every way qualified for the position which the Peoples' Party desires him to fill.

The blockade on the Sonoma branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad running from Vallejo to Santa Rosa via El Verano, was raised on Saturday of last week, since which time the regular passenger and freight trains have been running on schedule time. The stoppage was cause by strikers who succeeded in getting the fireman of the train to leave his post of duty, much to the discomfort of the patrons of the road.

Capt. J. P. Hauto, owner and master of the sloop "Gazelle," plying on Sonoma Creek between Embarcadero and San Francisco, is doing a rushing freight business this season. His transportation charges are reasonable and his service prompt and speedy. At the present time he is engaged in carrying all kinds of freight, including fruit, lumber and general merchandise.

John M. Hendley of the Glen Ellen Hotel, and manager of the Park at that place, will give a series of social hops in the Park Pavilion during the present summer, commencing this evening. These socials will be twice a week, on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Good music has been engaged and campers in the valley and the public in general are assured of a pleasant time.

The jackass craze has broken out in Sonoma, and every small girl and boy in town is investing or talking of investing in one or more of the long-eared braying nuisances. The result is that night is made hideous by the discordant "hee-hawing" of a number of jacks and jennies in the back yards of private residences. The Buena Vista ranch, belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. Johnson, is responsible for this infliction. There are about one hundred donkeys on the ranch and they are going off like hot cakes, as the executors of the estate are offering them for a mere song. In consequence the town is threatened with being overrun by the monsters, much to the peace of mind of every nervous resident. The braying of the jacks has also struck terror into the hearts of every tom, tabby and fido in the place.

If you want a good time don't fail to attend the Wednesday and Saturday evening hops at the Park Pavilion, Glen Ellen. *

A WINDFALL.

Worthy Sonoma Family Left $35,000 by the Death of a Relative in France.

The will of James Freeborn, a rich American mining man, who recently died in Paris, has been filed for probate in San Francisco. The deceased bequeaths to a worthy Sonoma family $35,000 as follows: W. F. Wade, his nephew, $10,000; Mrs. Goodwin, his sister-in-law, $15,000; Miss Freeborn, a neice, $10,000.

FATAL SHOOTING SCRAPE.

One Man Killed and Another Fatally Wounded.

On Sunday night last Geo. Delehanty and Andrew Fitzpatrick of Bodega, a small town situated on the coast in this county, engaged in a deadly combat with six-shooters. Fitzpatrick was instantly killed and a peace-maker named Cero Caseres was shot in the abdomen and fatally wounded. Both men emptied their pistols at each other. Fitzpatrick was shot three times and a bullet from his pistol struck Caseres while he was endeavoring to separate the shooters. Delehanty escaped unscathed. After the tragedy Delehanty surrendered and is now in jail at Santa Rosa. He claims to have shot in self-defense. The men were enemies and the shooting was the result of an old grudge.

The High School.

The High School Trustees met last Saturday to select a Principal. There were twelve or fifteen applicants for the position. The following Trustees were present: Messrs. M. K. Cady, L. M. Johannsen, Mont. Akers, Frank Riser, Charles J. Poppe, Sam. Agnew and Capt. Cutter. On the recommendation of a Professor from the State University, Mr. Ben. Weid, a graduate of that institution of learning, was selected to fill the position of Principal and Miss Georgia D. Reed that of Vice Principal.

Democratic Primaries.

Elsewhere in these columns will be found a call for the Democratic primaries which will be held throughout Sonoma county on Thursday, August 9th. Delegates will be selected to the County Convention which convenes in Santa Rosa on Wednesday, August 15th. A county ticket will be nominated and delegates chosen to the State Convention which meets in San Francisco on August 21st. The Democrats of Sonoma county, judging from the number of aspirants in the field for the various offices, are hopeful of a local victory.

Peoples' Party Meeting.

There was a meeting of the Peoples' Party at Union Hall last Wednesday evening. As the meeting was not advertised by posters or otherwise the attendance was very slim. Able addresses were delivered by S. S. Peck of Petaluma and other speakers.

Sonoma Public School.

The Sonoma Public School will re-open Monday, August 6th, after a six-week's vacation, with Miss Mandilla Gingery as Principal, and Miss Susie Shaw and Miss Minnie Cook as assistants.

GLEN ELLEN.

The thermometer one day last week registered 109 degrees in the shade.

A valuable horse belonging to A. Simoni was badly injured by a barbed wire fence last Tuesday.

The local train on the Southern Pacific Road is again running regularily and eastern mail arrives almost daily.

Mrs. M. P. Akers and Mrs. O. B. Shaw of Sonoma are enjoying camp life near the Clark farm.

Sam Lewis, the engineer on the Donahue line, is taking a vacation and Mr. Donahue of Tiburon has taken his place.

H. W. Ungewitter, District Deputy, installed the newly elected officers of the Glen Ellen Parlor, N. S. G. W., last Saturday.

The moonlight social held at the Park last Saturday evening was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

THE WINE COMBINATION.

Papers Prepared for the Incorporation of the Syndicate.

The composition of the State wine syndicate will probably be made public within a week. It is to go into effect on the first of next month. The papers have all been drawn and only await the arrival of two prospective members to be signed and the incorporation recorded. The syndicate will undoubtedly consist of eight of the ten largest wine dealers of San Francisco, who have all of the capital necessary to carry the project to successful accomplishment.

The same circumstances which have caused delay in the filing of the syndicate's incorporation papers have retarded the signing of contracts in some of the viticultural districts of the State. Even under these disadvantageous conditions 65 per cent of the acreage has been secured and enough assurances have been given to bring it up to the required 80 per cent. Sonoma has signed for 90 per cent, Santa Clara for 70, Alameda for 60, Napa for 60, Contra Costa for 60 and San Joaquin and Fresno will each contract for 90 per cent the moment that the formation of the syndicate is announced. Napa will increase its subscriptions, and to that end a meeting of wine-makers was held Saturday at St. Helena. There has been some opposition from brokers, but it is expected that it will be overcome. Nothing has yet been done in Los Angeles, but Mr. Bechowski, the manager of the Rose ranch, left by steamer for that district Tuesday, and promises to obtain signatures for 90 per cent of the acreage.

The wine men realize that the time in which to put their project into operation is short, and from now on to the end of the month will bend every effort to bring the signed contracts up to 90 per cent of the total grape acreage of the State. They are enthusiastic and say they are certain of success.

SONOMA'S ASSESSMENT.

Increase of Acreage, But Decrease in Total Valuation.

On the first Monday in July County Assessor Longmore completed his work of assessment. The Board of Supervisors are sitting as a Board of Equalization. So far no one has appeared before the Board asking for a change in his assessment, which fact is very complimentary to Mr. Longmore and his efficient deputies. Members of the State Board of Equalization say that Sonoma is the most satisfactorily assessed county in the State, and the absence of local complaint bears out their conclusion.

For the year 1894 the total acreage assessed in Sonoma county is 851,377, as against 838,794 acres for 1893—an increase of 12,583 acres, principally land that has been homesteaded.

The total of all assessments in the county for the year 1894 (exclusive of railroads, valued at about $1,500,000, which the State Board will assess,) is $28,234,615, a decrease for the year of $1,070,975. This decrease is principally on rough mountain land and outside town lots, although $458,980 of the decrease is represented by a depreciation of personal property, principally horses. Mr. Longmore says business property and the better class of real estate generally has not fallen off in value.

An analysis of the assessment rolls reveals that the great wealth of the county lies in its property outside the cities, and totals $21,301,405. The total of city valuations, including Cloverdale, Healdsburg, Petaluma, Sonoma and Santa Rosa is $6,933,210.

Of the cities Santa Rosa leads very largely—in fact represents more than one-half of the total, with $3,518,990. Petaluma follows with $2,055,045. Healdsburg foots up $736,830, Sonoma, $336,165 and Cloverdale $286,180.

On the whole Sonoma county makes a good showing after passing through an ordeal of business depression and money stringency. Her wealth is solid and therefore but slightly shaken or affected by changing conditions. The same conditions that insure such stability assist to render the burden of taxation less onerous, and with a promised revival of business all over the country Sonoma is certain to share in the beneficient results. Santa Rosa Democrat.

Board of Education.

The County Board of Education in session last Saturday decided to adopt Sullivan's practical school apparatus. Also to substitute Julius Cæsar for the Merchant of Venice for the next teachers' examination to be held in Santa Rosa on December 17th.

If you want the very best of wine, liquors or cigars go to the Union Hotel, and you will be politely served by Mr. A. A. Enke. *

Mr. Beasley will remain for several months to wind up Mr. Cook's business affairs when he will join his family. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are old residents of Sonoma and their departure for the Sunny South, where the aged couple will end the rest of their days, will be sincerely regretted by many old Sonoma Valley acquaintances.

The Ellis cherry orchard, comprising six acres, situated east of Sonoma on the Napa road, will be sold at Sheriff's sale in front of the Court House, Santa Rosa, on Monday, August 13th, to satisfy a mortgage of $1,209.44, held by L. M. Johannsen and costs of suit. This will be a chance to secure a bargain.

Chas. Champlin of this place, who recently graduated from the High School, has passed a successful examination before the Sonoma County Board of Education and secured a primary grade certificate. Young Champlin is only seventeen years of age. Under the school law he will have to wait another year before he will be eligible to teach.

Eat all the strawberries you can. They are most excellent medicine, to say nothing of their nutritive qualities. Do with less meat and spend the money for strawberries while they last. They are a splendid complexion-purifier when eaten in quantities and some celebrated beauties have taken what they believed to be beneficial baths in crushed strawberries. They make a good acid wash for the face and a fine dentrifrice for the teeth.

A COMPLETE SURPRISE.

One of the most enjoyable surprise parties that has taken place in Sonoma for a long time was tendered Miss Mamie Stevenot at her home in the western suburbs of town on Friday evening of last week. The affair was gotten up by Miss Eugenie Berges and Miss Maggie Stevenot and is one long to be cherished in the hearts of the participants as an evening of mirth and merriment. At about 8:30 o'clock all of the young folks who had been invited assembled at the Stevenot residence, and finding that Miss Mamie was out riding with her mother, secreted themselves in the house to await the arrival of the young lady. In about fifteen minutes she returned and was taken completely by surprise when she found, assembled in the parlor, so many of her young friends. Immediately dancing, singing and the playing of games were indulged in and kept up until midnight when supper was announced. A march was then formed and all proceeded to the large dining room accompanied by the melodious strains of the "Manhattan Beach March," which was played on the piano by Miss Nellie Stevenot. After partaking of a sumptuous repast the festivities of the evening were resumed and it was an early hour in the morning when the jolly young folks departed from this hospitable home highly pleased with the pleasant manner in which they had been entertained. The following were those present: Misses S. Cromwell Johnson, Mamie Stevenot, Maggie Stevenot, Genie Berges, Katie McDonell, Clara Cheney, Pauline Bates, Maud Green, Nellie Stevenot, Anita Emparan. Messrs. H. Rogers, H. F. Bates, C. E. Johnson, C. H. Gaines, E. C. Donaldson, J. E. Berges, J. P. McDonell, H. Nauman, W. Wyatt, F. Weems, C. Cheney, S. Berges, F. Stevenot.

SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, JULY 21, 1894.

Saved by a Faint.

"A fainting fit is something not usually to be desired," remarked Marcus L. Wilson of Athens, Ga., "but I recall an instance where a swoon proved to be about the best thing that could have happened to a certain young lady, as it probably was the means of saving her life.

"During the street parade of a circus a few years ago a full grown lion managed in some way to break the fastenings of his cage and bounded out in the midst of the crowd of people who were collected in the street. Of course the people were frightened nearly out of their wits and fled in every direction. One woman was so badly terrified that she sank to the ground in a dead faint not more than 10 feet from where the lion stood lashing his tail and glaring about him.

"No one dared to approach the woman to bear her to a place of safety; neither was there a gun or pistol handy with which to kill the beast. All at once the lion turned his gaze on the prostrate form of the woman, and with an awful roar reached her side with one bound. The spectators were horrified, expecting the next moment to see the poor woman torn limb from limb. To the great astonishment of every one, the lion, instead of mangling the body, simply sniffed at it, turned it over with his paws, and after eying it suspiciously walked away. He thought the woman was dead. After some time and a good deal of trouble the lion was captured by his keepers and recaged."

Tightly Plugged With Beans.

Toward the latter end of the good days in Tombstone the superintendent of the Toughnut mine got a diamond drill, and with the machine went to exploring the mysterious depth of mineral that lay securely under "water level." One of the holes bored was a deep one, and it struck a water vein that furnished a supply of such force that it fairly shot the tools out of the holes.

That was rather discouraging, of course, to sink a shaft on, so the superintendent concluded he would cork up the hole and quit. But he couldn't cork the hole. Iron plugs and braces only seemed to give the water chance to find fresh outlet around the plugs.

When almost in despair, an inspiration came to the unhappy mining man. With an iron bar he poked a big wad of rags down the hole, and on top of that filled the cavity with beans—regular big brown Mexican beans. It worked. The plug is there yet, and the hole hasn't leaked a drop in 10 years.—Phœnix Gazette.

Sugar and Preserves.

Sugar and preserves were fashionable presents in Queen Bess' time. Every one seemed to have had "a sweet tooth" in those times. The dean and chapter of Salisbury, having a case to be tried before Justice Hale, presented him with six sugar loaves, for which the judge, who was exceptionally scrupulous, insisted on paying. In Davenant's poem, "Madagascar," occurs the couplet:

Then reconcile the rich for gold fringed gloves,
The poor for God's sake or for sugar loaves.

The sergeants of the house of commons in Lent, 1585, received from Lord Howard a present of sugar. The chamber of Exeter in 1610 voted sugar loaves to two canons for their morning lectures. Sometimes marmalade, oranges, lemons or even potatoes took its place, and when sugar became cheaper the custom ceased. In 1581 all persons in Scotland not being dukes, earls, etc., possessed of at least £250 in yearly rent, were prohibited the use of confections, foreign drugs and costly spices.—Westminster Review.

The Only Danger.

A lady was very solicitous about her health. Every trifle made her uneasy, and the doctor was called immediately. The doctor was a skillful man and consequently had a large practice. It was very disagreeable to him to be so often called away from his other cases for nothing, and he resolved to take an opportunity of letting the lady see this. One day the lady observed a red spot on her hand and at once sent for the doctor. He came, looked at her hand and said:

"You did well to send for me early."

The lady looked alarmed and asked:

"Is it dangerous then?"

"Certainly not," replied the doctor. "Tomorrow the spot would have disappeared, and I should have lost my fee for this visit."—Family Herald.

The Power of Music.

Signor Filippo Palma, a famous pianist of 60 years ago, was surprised in his house by a creditor bent on his arrest, when Palma, without making any reply to the several reproachful invectives and angry menaces which the other threw out against him, by playing one arietta, then another, still sitting at his harpsichord, not only calmed the infuriated creditor but so affected him that he insisted on lending Palma an additional £10. —Kansas City Times.

HOW BLUE AND GRAY BLEND.

"Oh, mother, what do they mean by blue?
And do they mean by gray?"
I heard from the lipsof a little child
As she bounded in from her play.
The mother's eyes filled up with tears.
She turned to her darling fair
And smoothed away from the sunny brow
The treasure of golden hair.

"Why, mother's eyes are blue, my sweet,
And grandpa's hair is gray,
And the love we bear our darling child
Grows stronger every day."
"But what did they mean?" persisted the child,
"For I saw two cripples today,
And one of them said he had 'fought for the blue,
The other had 'fought for the gray.

"The one of the blue had lost a leg,
And the other had but one arm,
And both seemed worn and weary and sad,
Yet their greeting was kind and warm.
They told of battles in days gone by
Till it made my blood grow chill.
The leg was lost in the Wilderness fight
And the arm on Malvern Hill.

"They sat on the stone by the farmyard gate
And talked for an hour or more
Till their eyes grew bright and their hearts seemed warm
With fighting their battles o'er,
And parting at last with a friendly grasp,
In a kindly, brotherly way,
Each asking God to speed the time
Uniting the blue and the gray."

Then the mother thought of other days,
Two stalwart boys from her riven:
How they'd knelt at her side, and, lisping, prayed,
"Our father which art in heaven;"
How one wore the gray and the other the blue;
How they passed away from sight
And had gone to the land where gray and blue
Merge in tints of celestial light.

And she answered her darling with golden hair,
While her heart was sorely wrung
With the thoughts awakened in that sad hour
By her innocent prattling tongue,
"The blue and the gray are the colors of God;
They are seen in the sky at even,
And many a noble, gallant soul
Has found them passports to heaven."
—Charles L. Brace in Blue and Gray.

Chinese Soldiers.

The following quotation from an author who had experience with General Gordon's "ever victorious army" shows Chinamen are admirably suitable for soldiers:

"The old notion is pretty well got rid of that they are at all a cowardly people when properly paid and efficiently led, while the regularity and order of their habits, which dispose them to peace in ordinary times, give place to a daring bordering upon recklessness in time of war. Their intelligence and capacity for remembering facts make them well fitted for use in modern warfare, as do also the coolness and calmness of their disposition.

"Physically they are on the average not so strong as Europeans, but considerably more so than most of the other races of the east, and on a cheap diet of rice, vegetables, salt fish and pork they can go through a vast amount of fatigue, whether in a temperate climate or a tropical one, where Europeans are ill fitted for exertion. Their wants are few, they have no caste prejudices and hardly any appetite for intoxicating liquors."
—Nineteenth Century.

Repairing Fences.

There is a great deal of work that can be done on a farm to good advantage after farm work proper is finished. There is no better time in the year to put the fences in good shape than when the ground is frozen. It is easy to get about the fields with material, and the work has just exercise enough about it to make it pleasant. A fence that is gone over every year seldom needs a great deal of repairing. Yearly attention keeps it in good condition, but neglect it for a few years, and it will require as much labor to put it in good trim as it takes to build a new fence.—Detroit Tribune.

It Was Enough.

Bilker—I understand your landlady gives you a piece of steak not larger than your two fingers.

Star—That's what.

Bilker—I shouldn't think that was enough.

Star—Oh, I don't know about that. I almost wish sometimes after I've been chewing on it for half an hour or so that it wasn't so much as it is.—Detroit Free Press.

Wyoming has 30,000 square miles of coal deposits. There are 5,000 miles of irrigating canals, watering 2,000,000 acres. The canals cost over $10,000,000. The live stock interests exceed $100,000,000 in value. Over $5,000,000 in bullion has been taken from the mines in one county.

In Japan physicians consider it beneath their dignity to send bills to their patients. The latter, however, understand that they are under obligations of gratitude, and accordingly send a "present" in proportion to their means.

There is a village in Austria called Storbech, of which all the inhabitants are chess players. The game is regularly taught in the schools, and every year there is a public examination, chessboards being awarded as prizes.

When the queen ascended the British throne, more than 41 per cent of the English people could not write their names. The proportion in that condition has been reduced to 7 per cent.

In the thirteenth century the sweetmeats for the tables of royalty and nobility were prepared by the apothecaries, who called their confections "goodies."

CAMPING

Read what the Rev. Dr. J. K. McLean, Pastor of the First Congregational Church, Oakland, says of it:

Hazel Creek, April 14, '94.

* * * I am more than pleased with it—delighted. The place seems to me to embody all available points for a camp—dry, firm soil, good water (the very best), fine chances for drainage, and scenery unsurpassable. The view of Mt. Shasta is one of the very best to be had from any point; it is visible from every part of the ground. The view of the Crags also is fine. The general environment is of the best. It is an oval-shaped amphitheater, three miles long by one-fourth to ¾ of a mile wide, with receding walls two to three thousand feet in height, with lines and shades of beauty at every reach. I doubt if a better place can be found in all Northern California.
